

Save money and open up your options with McKesson Capital

Purchasing new equipment isn't always in the budget, and researching leasing and financing options can drain valuable time and resources.

We understand your challenges, and we've got your solution. With McKesson, you not only get product guidance, but also a network of lenders to help keep your costs low.

Leasing through McKesson Capital lets you:

Pay less out-of-pocket

We'll work with you to find a solution that fits into your budget, with terms ranging from 12 to 84 months. And, with cost-efficient equipment and supply bundles and buyout options, you can save even more money.

Keep capital within your business

Financing your equipment lets you save cash for other business needs.

Leave your credit lines untouched

Third-party financing options means you can keep existing lines of credit open for other purposes.

Take advantage of tax benefits

Some finance structures come with tax benefits depending on the current tax code — ask your accountant for more information.

Get up and running quickly

With deferred payment plans, you'll have time to set up and start using your equipment before your first payment is due.

Let's get started!
