

Carrot Fertility

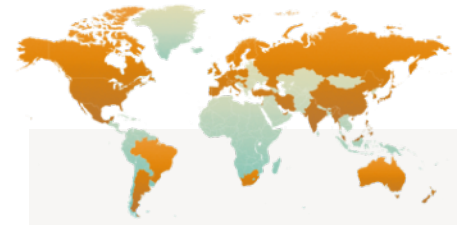

Fertility benefits for employees of multinational companies

Carrot Fertility is the leading global fertility benefits provider for multinational employers, built to support employees through their entire fertility healthcare journey. Carrot works with more than 100 companies to provide employer-sponsored fertility care and family-forming benefits for their global teams. Carrot supports companies in more than 40 countries across North America, Asia, Europe, South America, and the Middle East.

Carrot partners with clinics that are leaders in fertility care, family-forming, and patient satisfaction to help members in their pursuit of parenthood. Carrot utilizes detailed criteria in order to develop a list of eligible provider options from which employees can choose: fertility centers, pharmacies, donor-assisting agencies, attorneys, and adoption providers, as well as companies who specialize in reproductive gamete and embryo transport.

Through these partnerships, employees and their partner/spouse can access services such as fertility testing, fertility preservation cycles, intrauterine insemination (IUI), and in vitro fertilization (IVF), as well as eligible expenses associated with adoption and gestational carrier arrangements, while respecting country and sub-region laws and guidelines.

Carrot was built to provide a seamless fertility benefits solution for companies and their employees, as well as for the providers who serve them. With Carrot, eligible employees are treated as direct self-paying patients by eligible providers.
