

Elemy

Integrated, Inclusive Autism Care

Elemy is the first autism services provider to bring child health and behavioral health professionals together to apply principles of personalized medicine to the design of behavioral interventions that support children with ASD and their families.

HOW WE PROVIDE INTEGRATED & INCLUSIVE CARE

Whole Child Orientation

We support the overall health and well-being of the children and families under our shared care. Our integrated approach to treatment is grounded in child-centered domains and, rather than training to norms, we help a child replicate the scope and sequence of developmental experiences, which allows them to express and retain their individuality.

Quality, Data-Driven Program

We conduct monthly, data-driven assessments of our performance as providers, constantly get feedback from our clients and their families on their experience of care, and continuously review the relevant literature on evidence-based procedures to improve care and to ensure that our programs are aligned with the current state of best practices in the field.
