Since 1959, the OMS Foundation's steadfast commitment to research has encouraged the discovery of new knowledge and supported the accompanying studies. The Foundation's focus on education and academic excellence continues to provide platforms for the specialty's most-respected experts to educate their colleagues.

Your donation supports:

Research Support Grants support innovative basic and clinical research to improve the diagnosis, treatment and prevention of conditions related to oral and maxillofacial surgery. Initial funding from the Foundation often opens doors to larger funders.

FEDA (Faculty Educator Development Awards) offer encouragement and incentives to early-career faculty to choose a career in academia.

Clinical Trials Methods Course provides an immersive introduction to team-based research, led by the specialty's top researchers and faculty.

CSIOMS (Clinical and Scientific Innovations in Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery) showcases the latest research and technology affecting the full scope of oral and maxillofacial surgery.

GIVE (Global Initiative for Volunteerism and Education) provides travel stipends to residents accompanying approved OMS-led teams to deliver humanitarian healthcare to underserved communities worldwide.

Resident Transitions into Practice Conference offers essential, non-clinical information to help residents successfully transition to practice.

Resident Travel Scholarships help to defray travel costs for OMS residents attending AAOMS educational programs.

Student Research Training Awards introduce highly qualified undergraduates to the OMS specialty and opportunities in research.

OMS Foundation Alliance

The Alliance provides opportunities for allied staff, families and friends of the OMS community to meet, network and support each other and the Foundation with social events and fundraisers at the AAOMS Annual Meeting and throughout the year.

In partnership with OMSNIC, the Alliance's Norma L. Kelly Resident Spouse Scholarships help defray the travel expenses for spouses of residents attending the AAOMS Annual Meeting. The Alliance also has been a principal funder of GIVE since the program's inception.
