

Introducing ORCA Think

Books about the issues making headlines in the world today

A note from the editor:

What is the Orca Think series?

At Orca we believe that educated minds create a more compassionate world. More than ever, young people are asking hard questions about current events today and how they can join the discussion. This new series, aimed at middle graders, gives them the tools to take their first steps as global citizens. The books take on tough subjects, from homelessness to media literacy to our right to a healthy environment. They're written by authors who bring their expertise, firsthand experience and passion to the issues. We want Orca Think to encourage readers to ask those questions, make connections and take action for a better future.

Kirstie Hudson | Orca Think series editor

Coming March 2021
9781459818996
$24.95 HC • 120 PAGES
AGES 8-12

A look at how human migration has changed the world, with photographs and illustrations throughout

Upcoming topics:

Human Migration | Homelessness | Animal Welfare |
The Right to a Healthy Environment |
Wearable Technology | Media Literacy

Question.
Connect.
Take Action.