Specialized packaging improves adherence, reduces errors

Our color-coded packaging combines all medications for a consumer into one convenient pack, and it's offered at no cost. It also reduces errors during medication administration.

- Bubbles are individually labeled and perforated, making it easy to remove a single, daily, or weekly dose.
- Detailed medication information is listed at the top of each card, including directions from the prescriber, description of drug and number of pills in each bubble.

“[Genoa’s special medication packaging] makes it far easier and insures greater accuracy to split doses between home, school or other settings. I have many family members who tell me that it has been the most effective measure to improve consistency of treatment.”

- Medical Director, Family Service & Guidance Center, Topeka KS
