RNPM[®] Regenerative, Non-Invasive, Pain Management Through Photobiomodulation

Regenerative, Non-Invasive, Pain Management[™] uses the scientifically proven modality of photobiomodulation; photons of light to modulate mitochondria at a biological level. The result is increased VEGF (Vascular Endothelial Growth Factor), molecular bloodflow and angiogenisis. This reduces pain and inflammation, enhances tissue healing and increases circulation.

Laser Fundamentals

Summus Medical Lasers[®] deliver regenerative, non-invasive, pain management by using specific red and near-infrared wavelengths of laser light to induce a photochemical reaction and therapeutic effect. Laser therapy has been used in Europe since the 1970's and Summus Medical Laser[®] was cleared by the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in 2005.

Wavelengths

Wavelength (nm)

Why is Power Important?

Wavelengths determine a therapeutic laser's depth of penetration and power determines the dosage delivered to depth in tissues.

Power (Watts) is the rate of energy delivery and energy is measured in Joules (1 Watt = 1 Joule per second). Higher power at the surface will deliver more energy to the desired depth.

650nm Targets Superficial Receptors 810nm Targets Mitochondria Accelerates Surface Healing Increases Cellular Regeneration Reduces Antibiotic Usage Deepest Tissue Penetration Shortens Healing Time 915nm Targets Hemoglobin 980nm Targets Water in Blood Doubled O, Delivery to Tissues Improves Circulation

- Improves Pain Relief
- Enhances Healing Effects

Increases Conversion of O₂ to ATP

- Accelerates Cellular Metabolism

- Faster Recovery

The Importance Of Laser Pulsing

Studies prove that pulse frequencies elicit different physiological responses, and that different tissue types (muscle, connective tissue, bone, etc.) respond better to different pulse frequencies. Summus Medical Laser[®] protocols use continuous wave and various pulse frequencies in combination with up to four therapeutic wavelengths to optimize clinical outcomes.

How Does Intense Super Pulse (ISP) Enhance Laser Therapy?

Lasers operating in super pulse mode deliver bursts of high peak power for a short period of time. Our Intense Super Pulse (ISP) mode delivers a peak of 30W of laser energy to deeper tissues mitigating superficial heat build-up.
