

HOME INFUSION THERAPY ACCREDITATION

A focus on requirements that support excellent patient care while meeting mandates for Federal reimbursement for services.

HOME INFUSION THERAPY

ACHC Home Infusion Therapy Accreditation has been carefully built to develop and display your caliber of care. The program addresses patient assessment, medication review, plans of care, and patient education and medication administration provided by nurses in patients' homes.

Educational resources, including FAQs and crosswalks detailing the latest updates to standards, make ACHC a valued partner in achieving and maintaining accreditation, thereby increasing your referrals and patient base.

"Our overall experience with ACHC has always been very positive. I have always felt as if they were trying to help us to become the best we can be, as opposed to trying to point out our mistakes. That's huge! I also love the fact that, on the rare occasion I have disagreed with something, I feel heard. I have never once felt dismissed. Again, with every interaction I have felt as if we are becoming better and better. I am proud to say that we are ACHC accredited."
