

American Physician

We Specialize in Peripheral Vascular Practices

Whether a new start-up or a practice that has been operational for some time now, American Physician may be able to help you achieve at a higher level. We understand to code, bill, collect and appeal problem claims for the peripheral vascular practice.

We have clients throughout the United States that are doing what you do. This allows us to understand and often anticipate changes in policies before they present a problem to you and the practice

Using our knowledge about the clinical services you provide, we are able to understand the payer issues and ensure a higher payment rate in our appeals compared to a more traditional medical billing company. We can argue both from the billing and from the clinical standpoint as to why the services should be paid.
