

THERAFIRM—A HISTORY AND TRADITION OF INNOVATION AND EXCELLENCE

Therafirm began in the 1950s as Parke-Davis, making quality gradient compression garments in North Carolina—a cradle of textile manufacturing expertise.

In 2000, Therafirm was purchased by Knit-Rite, Inc., an industry-leading, family-owned manufacturer of orthotic and prosthetic medical textiles based in Kansas City. Knit-Rite was founded in 1923 and maintains a strong position in the forefront of innovation. Using decades of O&P knowledge, Knit-Rite re-invigorated innovation at Therafirm, transforming the compression line into something that was more comfortable, easier to put on, and more visually appealing.

In 2021, Knit-Rite, LLC and Therafirm were welcomed into a new medical manufacturing family when the company was purchased by Thuasne, a global pioneer and innovator in the world of medical devices and technology. Thuasne was founded in 1847 by Auguste Cattaert in Saint-Etienne, France and has grown over 175 years to include facilities across Europe and North America.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE...

As part of the Thuasne family, Therafirm will continue to expand the boundaries of quality and innovation in an effort to manufacture products to change and improve lives. Just like in the company’s infancy, Therafirm products are manufactured and will continue to be manufactured in our North Carolina facility by knowledgeable, skilled and proud American workers.

THE THERAFIRM PROMISE

Therafirm is committed to being your trusted partner in compression. Using our century of medical textile manufacturing tradition, we’ve gained a keen insight into what is important to your patients. We’ve used that knowledge, as well as our passion for innovation, to develop a product that your practice can recommend with confidence, and your patients can trust.
